"Study abroad was paramount to my understanding of the world and the way businesses operate. My classes taught me a great deal about how a supply chain works, but, while on study abroad, I could see it in action." ■ Jennifer Nunnely, Instructor of Operations Management

The Culverhouse College of Business invites you to help fund transformative study abroad experiences for more of our students, especially those who are first-generation, have financial constraints, or have never been abroad.

Change lives at UA with a gift today!

You can help ensure a Culverhouse College of Business student experiences new cultures and new ways of thinking about the world. Your gift will help relieve the cost of airfare, lodging, visas, and other expenses related to travel in the pursuit of professional and academic growth for these students.
