Dear <individual informal>,

History... Grit... Triumph.

When a Little 500 rider straps on their helmet and climbs onto the saddle, they feel the rush of these emotions. They represent their team. They remember the hours of training, the strategy, juggling multiple commitments in the classroom and on the track.
How can you show your pride in their commitment? How will you cheer them on?

With a contribution to the Colloquium for Women of IU Scholarship Fund, you're investing in the success of Little 500 riders. You are helping to create even more moments of triumph.

"As a student, something that is always on my mind is money, tuition, food, and basic necessities. This scholarship will help me focus on my studies, building my team, other connections, and my education. Thank you for making this scholarship possible. Supporters like you help us both on and off the track to focus on building our teams of strong, independent, and smart young women. You can't even imagine how much this scholarship will help me."

- Stephanie Nicola, 2023 Scholarship Recipient

The Colloquium for Women of IU Scholarship is available to Little 500 riders who exemplify leadership on and off the track. Since 2002, Women's Philanthropy at Indiana University has awarded more than 85 scholarships to deserving cyclists totaling more than $140,000.

Your generosity provides vital resources to students today, so that they can enjoy success long after graduation.
