Next Stop: Opportunity

A student heading to class.
A researcher on the way to the lab.
A scholarship recipient commuting across campus to build their future.

Every day, NYU students are commuting across New York City, across the globe, and sometimes even across the train from us, each moving one stop closer to their future.

Students like Viziany.

Viziany is a College of Arts & Science student double majoring in Politics and Classical Civilizations on the pre-law track. Between classes, debate, karate, and working at NYU's Student Engagement Center, she's building the skills and experiences that are shaping her future career goals.

Every student's success starts somewhere. Your first gift, whatever the amount, shows students they're not doing this alone.

National I Forgot Day

Missed your stop. Walked all the way to the train before realizing your Airpods were still at home. Forgot to make your gift to NYU...

One missed subway stop can throw off your whole day. For NYU students, missing out on an opportunity because of cost can change much more.

There's still time to make your gift and help NYU students move one step closer to their dreams.

I forgot to make my gift

Your support helps students access internships, project funding, alternative break experiences, and the resources that move them forward throughout their NYU journey.

The train's still here. Help a student keep moving forward.

Make a gift of $26 or more before July 10 and you'll also be entered to win an exclusive NYU labubu or a NYU student designed scarf.
